GIRL WHO SHOT SELF STILL LIVES

Miss Hattie Upgraft Has a Chance For Recovery—Rational Now.

STATES SHE IS SORRY

Miss Hattie Upgraft, the girl who tried to commit suicide by shooting herself with a 22 calibre revolver on Wednesday evening, is still living, and has a chance to recover. The only danger at the present time, according to Dr. J. K. Smith who is in attendance, is from septic blood poisoning. He hopes to be successfull in warding this off, however.

The girl is more rational now, the first shock having worn off. She talks to the few visitors that are allowed in the room, and to the family. In a conversation with Rev. H. C. Boblitt, pastor of the First Christian church, of which she is a member, she acknowledged that she was sorry for the deed, and wished now that she had live. The physician in charge family are giving her the best d they are hopeful of pull- gh.

was given yesterday for ct as that of a quarrel had with a young man, but graft has not stated any or her act yet.

CHARLEROI SWAMPED IN COMEDY

Funny Sort of a Game at The Baseball Park Yesterday.

ERRORS MOST PROMINENT

A comedy of errors would be a good title for the exhibition at the ball park yesterday afternoon. The horsehide was kicked around, thrown into the bleachers, and grandstand and incidentally pounded a little with the bigstick. Eight errors were marked up against Charleroi while Clarksburg succeeded in securing three.

The game started out pretty well and continued so until the fifth inning when the baloon ascended from the Clarksburg camp, ten men facing O'Neil before the side was retired, five runs being chalked up on three hits, a walk, a batsman hit and two errors by McGinty. In the sixth Charleroi got one more run which pactically sewed up the game had the hoodoo man stayed away. He couldn't resist the temptation, however, and when Clarksburg went to bat in the seventh he walked upon the field and when MacHale's kids got over their fright Fred Drum had seven of his men over the pan, three hits a couple or three errors with a few bases on balls being the cause.

Just to boost their base running Clarksburg scored three in the eighth on a pair of hits, a walk and an error. A batter hit, a walk an error and a long single gave the West Virginians three more in the ninth. Score:

ARE FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MISCHIEF

Dawson And Anderson Must Pay The Costs of Suit, However.

CASE OF VANDERGRIFTS

The familiar but unjust sentence of "not guilty but pay the costs" was imposed upon H. H. Dawson and Riley Anderson, by the jury yesterday at Washington, the men being charged with malicious mischief in removing a tombstone and markers from lot in the Beallsville cemetery. The private prosecutor was Mrs. Julia A. Vandergrift, wife of J. M. Vandergrift of Allenport, for many years owner of the Vandergrift distillery at Allenport.

The prosecution was part of the litigation that has arisen between the widow and sisters of J. M. Vandergrift, all children of J. H. Vandergrift, who died a few weeks ago. The sisters desired after the death of their father to purchase a lot adjoining that in which their mother and brother were buried at Beallsville. After doing this and interring the remains of their father in this half lot, they made arrangements to remove the body of their mother and also the Vandergrift monument to the same location.

It is alleged that H. H. Dawson and Riley Anderson had removed the monument with malicious intent. The defense stated that they were employed by the Vandergrifts to do the work, and cut an inscription on the monument to note the death of Mary J. and J. H. Vandergrift.

An injunction proceeding is still pending in court to restrain the removal of the body of Mary J. Vandergrift, the mother, from the lot claimed to be owned by Julia A. Vandergrift.

DEATH OF MISS CORRELL

Estimable Young Lady Succumbs To Illness of Several Months.

Mary Isabel Correll, aged 19 years, died this morning at 12:30 after a lingering illness of valvular heart trouble. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Jerome's church with interment at Calvary cemetery. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Correll of Washington avenue, three brothers, William of the firm of Correll and Crowley, Harry of the Overland Tea company, and Joseph living in Sumerset county and two sisters, Grace, wife of Philip E. Caulfield of Carnegie, and Marguerite at home.

Although the death of Miss Correll was not unexpected, it nevertheless produced a profound shock among her many friends. Miss Correll was a young woman with a lovable disposition and endowed with the rare faculty of making and keeping friends. She was devotedly attached to her family who gave her all the possible care and attention during her long sickness, and her untimely death is a crushing sorrow to them all.

FOREIGNERS BREAK DOORS AND WINDOWS

Are Arrested And Burgess Risbeck Imposes Stiff Fines.

MUST PAY FOR DAMAGES

It cost five foreigners just a toal of $67.25 fines, costs and for damages done, when they had a hearing before Burgess Risbeck last evening on a charge of fighting and destroying property at 1108 Crest avenue. Of this amount $37.25, was fine and costs. Not only did the burgess get after the men in the way of imposing sentence, but Justice Wilson, afterwards handled two of them pretty severely.

The affair occurred shortly after midnight Wednesday morning. There had been a wedding at the home of Mike Zurow at 1108 Crest avenue, and a number of guests were present. Beer flowed freely but Zurow was present as a guardian, and when he thought that there had been enough liveliness, he shut down on the drinks, which caused a fracas and in addition to personal injuries the house was greatly damaged, practically every window being broken and the doors battered in and the weather-boarding destroyed in some places.

Of the five arrested Kisansky was fined $10 and costs, Omate, Halladay and Wele $5 and costs, and Pafko $2 and costs, while the damages amounting to $30 was evenly divided among them. Information was made by Zulow before Justice Wilson, against Kisansky and Omate, and they were each fined $5 and costs last evening, and the former was compelled to pay the doctor's bill for having Zulow's eye attended to.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Sun sets 7:04, rises 4:40; moon rises 2:15 a. m.; planet Mercury visible low in west just after sunset.

Should Not Sleep.

Through the efforts of the Uniontown Merchants' Association that town has landed an industry that gives employment to fifty men. This is the Cosmopolitan Engineering company which manufactures ornamental and structural iron. The concern is located in Pittsburg.

It is just barely possible that this industry might have been landed for Chaleroi had the local Merchants' Association known it was seeking a new location and gone after it. The plant is not a big one, but it could probably be secured easier than a larger one, and a number of small concerns are better than one large one, as all the small ones are not likely to be shut down at once. In all probability there are many more small plants in Pittsburg that would like to get out of the city, and if our Merchants' Association is alert some of them might be directed this way. With the best of railroad and river transportation, and an abundance of coal and gas, Charleroi offers superior inducement to Uniontown.

The Town Beautiful.

Under direction of the civic committee of the Friday Conversational Club of Monongahela, two days have been set apart for an annual housecleaning of the town. On those days every property owner, tenant and citizen of the town will be asked to assist in cleaning up about their premises, and to place their homes and surroundings in the best possible shape. As a further incentive for beautifying the town the club will offer prizes for the best kept alley ways and porch boxes, as well as special prizes to school children for the finest flowers raised from seeds distributed in the schools some time ago.

The spirit of public improvement is most commendable, and when inaugurated and carried out systematically it soon becomes voluntary. As the Mail has previously remarked, Charleroi is remarkably clean and well kept, but a lot of of this order has to be enforced on the part of the health and sanitary officials. What is desired is for the citizens generally to take pride in the appearance of their premises and surroundings, and to appreciate the beautiful as well as the sanitary effects. Where beauty is appreciated, order and well being also follow.

Electric Sparks

As the Marathon is seemingly the most popular amusement in the country at the present time, with the possible exception of baseball, Charleroi to prove that she is in never behind the times is going to have a couple more.

According to Monessen officials the Monongahela High School people wanted them to join in holding a field meet at the Monongahela race track and leave poor Charleroi out in the cold. Monessen refused. And to think that the Monongahela people actually did that, after all we had done for them. Perhaps they knew they would get beaten anyhow, and were a little afraid of Charleroi.

A newspaper of a town along the valley elaborates upon their up-to-dateness from the fact that they have a sidewalk controversy on. What queer things some mortals will do.

Now that the Boyles are serving out their sentences, people can begin to speculate as to whether there is any possibility their ever getting out ahead of their time.

Great Scott! Here we have almost forgotten about Harry Thaw, from all this talk about the other fellows. Wonder what he is doing anyhow?

Wonder what specialty the people of this section could feed Mr. Taft if he should come for a visit?

Despite the fact that some people claim that a fan is an instrument to create a draft, we hold that it is a baseball bug. Occasionally it may create a draft, however.

Talking about sanitation, wouldn't it be a good idea for some people to have their breath fumigated?

Pool Opens May 15.

The swimming pool at Turner Hall will be open Saturday, May 15. The pool will be operated this year for members and their families only. In order to let the boys of the town have the benefit of the pool the management has set three afternoons, that is, Monday, Wednesday and Friday apart for them. The rates will be $1.00 per month or 50 cents between the 15th and the last of the month. The janitor, Mr. Andrew Hostnick, will have charge of the pool. Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday evening are set apart for ladies, and Mrs. Andrew Hostnick will be in charge. Thursday evening is reserved for private parties. Boys must find their own trunks. The pool will also be available after 10 a. m. until noon to private parties.

The pool has been renovated, the walls are painted white clear to the bottom. The electric lights have been re-arranged. The pool is filled with water pumped from a well. The rules governing the pool will be strictly enforced. 2324-t

Didn't Impress Him.

Shortly after his rise to the bench Judge Cole in had occasion to pronounce a life sentence upon a notorious offender In the course of his remarks the judge spoke with so much feeling and eloquence that many of the listeners were deeply affected The prisoner, on the other hand, seemed to be quite indifferent, looking at the ceiling and upwards, giving no attention whatever to what was being said After he had been remanded to jail one of the young lawyers had gone into the cell, curious to know how the criminal had felt when his honor was passing sentence upon him.

"What do you mean?" asked the convicted one.

"I mean when the judge was telling you you must go to prison for life."

"You mean when he was talking to me?"

"Yes."

The Fate of the Fancy Set.

James, aged seven, had been promoted. In recognition of this great event his father purchased for him the following things that James insisted were necessary:

A box of one dozen pencils, assorted leads; one ink and one pencil eraser, one pencil box with a marvelous roll top, three copybooks for home work, two penholders and a patent strap that was a marvel of ingenuity, but somehow or other didn't seem to hold the books very firmly.

The father examined the outfit a few days after and found that it contained—

One much chewed lead pencil furnished by the city, a scribbling pad with a few sheets on it, a tin fountain pen that did not work and never could have worked and a skate strap to hold the things together.

The father asked no questions. He instinctively knew what had become of the fancy implements of education. —New York Press.

The Monongahela Junior Turners and the Catsburg played a game of baseball Tuesday, the score being 10 to 0 in favor of the Turners. Christopher Couler pitched for Catsburg, while Wm. Herron twirled for the Turners.

Mr. Porter's home is in New Alexandria, Westmoreland county.

Manager Harry Garbart is strengthening his New Eagle team for the coming season, and has signed "Tug" Harris, of Gallatin, who will play in the outfield. Harris is a well known athlete, and is a good player, being especially handy with the stick. Lines are also out for Frank Vittone, of Finleyville, who played with the team last year.

The executive committee of Post 50, Grand Army of the Republic, composed of E. S. France, J. D. Hoon and Capt. J. B. Gibson, is arranging for the observance of Memorial Day. Union Memorial service will be held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, May 30 and on Monday, the 31st, the exercises will be held in the Presbyterian church, the address by Rev. M. M. Allbeck.

Encouragement.

"I have a splitting headache," sighs the beautiful young thing

"Have you ever tried magnetic healing?" asks the obliging young man.

"No. What is it?"

"You rest your head, thus, on my shoulder, and I pass my arm about your waist in this manner. Now be perfectly calm and see if this does not relieve you"

The position is maintained for five or ten minutes, and then the obliging young man asks:

"Does your head ache any more?"

"Ye-e es."

"Well, I'm sorry I don't seem able to relieve you"

He is about to remove his arm when she looks up at him childingly and says:

Why She Shut Down.

"A charming gentleman about four years old used to pass my house every day on his way to kindergarten," said a lady, "and in course of time I made his acquaintance and gave a penny to him each morning when we parted.

"Eventually his mother requested me not to give any more money to him. The next morning I did not present the usual penny. He did not seem to notice the omission. The succeeding day when the penny was not given to him he said nothing. But on the morning of the third day when the penny was not forthcoming he sidled up to me and whispered: 'What's the matter? Ain't your husband working?'"

Uncertainty of Lion Hunting.

A lion is a fearful animal. Do not run away with the idea that he is not dangerous. You may have luck to kill twenty, but No. 21 will likely get you However careful and good a shot you may be, there is the greatest danger in tackling a lion. I remember Colonel H., who had lived in Africa for nine years and during that time had never seen a lion, and the first lion he saw he wounded and got badly mauled, saying to me: "Here, man; you have been here only sixteen months and have killed five lions. Chuck it, man, while you are in luck. They are bound to get you if you go on hunting them." —Forest and Stream.

Monte Carlo Girls.

Next Saturday evening, May 15 the Monte Carlo Girls have been booked for a return engagement to the Coyle Theatre and this company, which is the best that has been seen here in years, will return with many new features, retaining the best of the old. Lew Golden, one of the best Hebrew comedians that has ever played here, is still a member of the company which of itself is an assurance of a large assortment of good wholesome laughter, also "Mariutch" and her world famous Salome dance, and a bunch of the prettiest chorus girls that ever left New York.

THE OLD FLINTLOCKS.

They Seem to Have Done Some Rather Tolerable Shooting.

"These old shooting irons," said a man from Virginia, who was examining an old flintlock rifle, "always have my profound respect. Our grandfathers and great-grandfathers did their hunting with them and used them in our two victorious wars with England. They were always good weapons and are now, if they are equipped with a good stock and a good lock. They could do fine service. Any man who was any sort of a marksman could do effective work with them in their day. This fact was well illustrated in an incident that happened several years ago near Richmond. The story was printed in some of the leading newspapers in Virginia and was the cause of much interest.

"There was an old farmer residing in one of the peninsular counties who was coming on the cars to Richmond and had with him one of those old fashioned weapons. In the train he got into conversation with a small party of gentlemen, who expressed much interest in his old rifle, and the farmer told of some rather extraordinary feats of marksmanship that he had performed with it.

"Finally he was persuaded to give an exhibition of his skill with the old relic, and a trial came off at Rocketts in the presence of a few gentlemen. The old flintlock was fired seven times and only missed the mark once. At first the old man fired it at some small objects—to get his hand steady, so he said. Then the old fellow handed to his son, who had every faith in his father's skill, a large potato and stationed him at fifty yards distance, holding the potato between his thumb and forefinger.

"The ride cracked, and the potato was split into several pieces. Another shot was made at the bowl of a pipe which the boy was smoking, and the bowl was smashed. Several other shots were made at various objects, but in trying to hit a copper cent that was tossed in the air the marksman made a miss. He was considerably mortified at this and laid the blame on a bystander who sneezed loudly at the critical moment, but made another attempt, which was successful.

"The old man then declined any further trials of his skill and when offered a sum of money to repeat his feat of shooting a potato from his son's hand refused, saying he didn't care to experiment any further unless his weapon was freshly cleaned. The boy was willing, but the old man was obdurate. The young man showed not the least anxiety during the dangerous experiment upon himself."—Washington Post.

A Necessity.

"Twenty dollars for retrimming your hat!" exclaimed Mr. Madison. "But we agreed to spend nothing except for things that were positively needed."

"Well, John, this is. You see, my best friend has just had hers retrimmed, and I have promised to go with her to the concert on Friday."

"Oh, all right. But I can't give you more than fifteen this morning, because I broke my meerschaum and must have it mended."

"Can't you smoke your old briarwood?"

"Certainly, dear. And you can wear your old hat."

"John, let's begin to economize next month after we get things straightened out."

"All right."—New York Herald.

To Multiply by Division.

Everybody knows that learning the tens in the multiplication table is as easy as "pie" and that the fives are not much harder; but, slight as is the mental effort required in multiplying any number by five, it may be lessened still more by discarding the multiplier entirely and substituting a divisor instead. This may sound paradoxical, but by experimenting you will find that dividing by two will bring the same result as multiplying by five, provided you add a cipher to the quotient if the dividend be an even number or five if it be odd. For instance, if you multiply 2,734 by five the product is 13,670. What is still easier, divide 2,734 by two, which is done almost instantaneously; then tack on your 0 and you have 13,670.

Separate and Together.

First Seaman—I say, Bill, wot's this card?

Second Seaman—That's the saloon passengers' menu, of course.

"But wot does it mean?"

"Oh, it's a list of all the things they have for dinner—soup and fish and vegetables and meat. That's the difference between the saloon and the forecastle; they get them all separately and call it a menu. In the forecastle we get them altogether and call it Irish stew."—London Answers.

True Tale.

"My daughter gave us an awful scare the other day," said a caller last night. "She went away for a visit in New York. And she sent a telegram from Buffalo, her first stop. My wife was afraid to open it. We had visions of train wrecks, sudden illness and all sorts of things. And what do you think the message said? This:

"'I forgot to tell you—don't eat up all the strawberry jam while I'm gone.'"—Cleveland Leader.

As It Happens.

Bobbie—Papa, when a foreign count gets engaged to an American girl, is she his fiancee? Robert—That is a matter of opinion, son. Usually she is his financier.—New York Press.

Society is a troop of thinkers, and the best heads among them take the best places.—Emerson.

A TINY BIT OF GROUND.

What May Be Done With a Plot Twenty by Fifty Feet.

A space 20 by 50 feet may under intensive culture be made to yield fresh vegetables for a small family through half the year. With 40 by 50 feet or 50 by 100 there can be a garden spelling riotous plenty.

Have the spading done as early as possible, use thoroughly rotted manure and supplement it with some good commercial fertilizer, either broadcasted and raked in or put in hills or drills.

It is a waste of seed, strength and time to plant a garden in poor soil. The seed will come up, the spindling plants will be harder to work than if they were luxuriant, and the resultant crop will be mostly conspicuous by its absence. So, if it be impossible to do more, make small rich beds, four feet wide and as long as the manure holds out, and sow them crosswise with such things as radishes, lettuce, cress, parsley, beets and onions. Make the rows a foot to eighteen inches apart or sow the radishes broadcast. Lettuce also yields more for broadcast sowing. Pull out the thriftiest as soon as edible and leave the rest to grow. Radish tops make excellent greens, something better flavored than mustard. By sowing thickly you can have dishes of greens.

Say the garden is 40 by 50 feet, this is something what the planting of it should be: Dwarf early peas, medium early and late peas, beets, early and later; beans in succession, including bush limas; carrots, radishes, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers. Do not adventure upon corn unless it be sweet corn planted on the pea space as a second crop, to come in just before frost. Make an asparagus bed all across one end of the plot, setting two-year-old roots and fertilizing the bed heavily in early summer just after cutting ceases.

Peas are so hardy they may be planted before snow is past, provided, of course, the ground is right when they go in. Make it fine and light, cover the seed at least three inches deep, then tramp the earth over them, setting the feet so one track touches the other. A quart of seed will sow a hundred feet of drill the proper thickness. An ounce of beet seed will sow the same row length.—Circle Magazine.

A MINISTER'S STORY.

It Didn't Have the Intended Effect Upon the Congregation.

It is said that a New England minister once told the following story just before the collection was taken up:

"I have heard of a man, prosperous and well to do, who went to church one Sunday and put a cent—just a plain copper cent—in the collection box.

"On the way home he was overtaken by a sudden heavy shower and, having no umbrella, crawled into a hollow log by the roadside to keep himself dry until the downpour was over.

"Soon the log began to swell, and the wetter it got the more it swelled until the sides finally closed in on the prosperous citizen and held him in a grip like a vise.

"The rain ceased, but the unfortunate man was unable to move hand or foot. He shouted for help, but no one heard him. He was about to give up in despair when he suddenly thought of the cent he had dropped into the collection box that day, and it made him feel so mean and small that he crawled right out of the log without any further trouble.

"Now, if you expect to get caught in a shower and be obliged to take refuge in a hollow log on the way home, by all means put a cent in the contribution basket. If you don't anticipate a crisis of that sort—well, you will know what to do when the basket is passed."

The minister expected a shower of silver and bills to follow this story, but unfortunately just as the collection began a black cloud passed overhead, it suddenly began to sprinkle, and the pennies fairly rained into the contribution basket. Only one quarter, a solitary dime and a lone nickel were found among the coppers, and they got in before the shower began.

The congregation, it seems, had all left their umbrellas at home, and they were not taking any chances.—New York Times

Got the Number.

Police Captain—You say that an automobile containing several persons sped along the street and struck down an old man? New Officer—Yis, sor. Police Captain—And that after chasing this auto for several blocks you finally succeeded in getting the number? New Officer—Yis, sor. Police Captain—Good! What was the number? New Officer—There wor just foive persons in th' car, sor!—Circle Magazine.

Positive Reasons.

The Minister—Mackintosh, why don't you come to church now? Mackintosh—For three reasons, sir. Firstly, I dinna like yer theology; secondly, I dinna like yer singin', and, thirdly, it was in your kirk I first met my wife.—Dundee Advertiser.

Essentials of Oratory.

"I have my speech nearly completed."

"I suppose you have marshaled your arguments in serried ranks?"

"No; I haven't taken up that part of it. But I have selected my anecdotes."—Washington Star.

No Other Candidate for Recorder So Well Equipped as Alex. D. Young

ALEX. D. YOUNG

Alex. D. Young, candidate for the Republican nomination for Recorder of Washington county, is too well known to need formal introduction. His long service in the Recorder's office as deputy has brought him into close touch with the public and the uniformly courteous treatment accorded patrons of the office during his term of service has made him many substantial friends who are eager to rally to his support in the contest to be settled at the June primaries.

In point of qualifications no other candidate is so well equipped. Not another man in Washington county so well understands how to conduct the business of the office and there is no more deserving candidate. While at no time in his career has Mr. Young been identified with factional politics, he has at all times since attaining his majority been a strict adherent to the principles of the party of his choice.

On his record as deputy recorder, established by many years of faithful service and on his record for party regularity Mr. Young solicits the support of Washington county Republicans.

Her Answer.

An Atchison girl had a proposal of marriage and asked a week to think it over. She went to all of her married sisters. One, who used to be a belle, had three children, did all her own work and hadn't been to the theater or out riding since she was married. Another, whose husband was a promising young man at the time she was married, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and a fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes the heroine of this little tale went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man. You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't. She said she could be ready in a month.—Atchison Globe.

Faith, Hope and Charity.

A London weekly offered 2 guineas for a definition of faith, hope and charity. The winner is as follows: Faith, blind trust in a first page; hope, what investors are fed upon; charity, what some of them are likely to be brought to.

That is certainly not bad, but this one is perhaps even better: Faith, the gift that saves mankind; hope, the gift that cheers mankind; charity, the gift that makes man kind.

Proved His Theory, but Died.

The acme of realism was reached, though by accident, in a criminal trial a number of years ago at Lebanon, O. Two men had a personal encounter. One of them, after vainly trying to draw his pistol from his hip pocket turned to flee. A moment later he fell, shot in the small of the back. One chamber of his pistol was found to have been fired. His assailant was tried for murder. The defense contended that the man had shot himself while trying to draw his pistol, which had become entangled in the lining of the pocket, and that the prisoner's shot had not taken effect. The prosecution contended that such a wound could not have been self inflicted. The defendant's counsel, Clement L. Vallandigham, undertook to demonstrate to the jury just how the dead man's pistol had hung in the pocket and just how possible it was to inflict such a wound. Suddenly there was a loud report, and the lawyer sank to the floor. The ball had entered the back almost in the identical spot where the dead man had been shot. The defendant was acquitted. Mr. Vallandigham died.—Exchange.

The Whole Story.

"I hear you are giving up your charge," said one aged and infirm minister to another the other day. "How are your people taking it?"

"Oh, well," was the answer, "I'm resigning and they're resigned."—Liverpool Mercury.

Westminster Abbey's Poets' Corner.

Turning from King Henry's chapel, with its wealth of fancy's "fairy frost work," to the poets' corner in Westminster abbey, we are attracted by a spell mightier than that of carven stones in the presence of those "serene creators of immortal things" who have enriched our literature with gifts beyond all price. This "glorious company of paupers," as they have been termed, says a writer in Great Thoughts, have won a fame in the glow of which that of statesmen and warriors wanes and perishes, "touched to death by diviner eyes." Drawn together, as it were, by the spell of Chaucer, "our first warbler," what Spenser calls "black oblivion's rust" has failed to tarnish their golden record. We move entranced amid the memorials of Drayton, Ben Jonson, Spenser, Shakespeare, Beaumont, Milton, Gray, Addison and many more, including the impassioned peasant singer, Robert Burns, and the great Victorians, Robert Browning and Alfred Tennyson.—London Standard.

GIRL WHO SHOT SELF STILL LIVES

Miss Hattie Upgraft Has a Chance For Recovery---Rational Now.

STATES SHE IS SORRY

Miss Hattie Upgraft, the girl who tried to commit suicide by shooting herself with a 22 calibre revolver on Wednesday evening, is still living, and has a chance to recover. The only danger at the present time, according to Dr. J. K. Smith who is in attendance, is from septic blood poisoning. He hopes to be successfull in warding this off, however.

The girl is more rational now, the first shock having worn off. She talks to the few visitors that are allowed in the room, and to the family. In a conversation with Rev. H. C. Boblitt, pastor of the First Christian church, of which she is a member, she acknowledged that she waa sorry for the deed, and wished now that she had live. The physician in charge [illegible] family are giving her the best [illegible]d they are hopeful of pull[illegible]gh.

[illegible] was given yesterday for [illegible]act as that of a quarrel [illegible] had with a young man, but [illegible]graft has not stated any [illegible] or her act yet.

The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock with devotional services conducted by Rev. J. W. Hays of Elizabeth. Following this will be a general conference led by Rev. J. H. Palmer of Charleroi. Rev. J. W. Moody of Riverview will speak on "Methods of Soul Winning," and Rev. H. C. Gleiss of Pittsburg will make an address on "The Educative Element of Children's Day." At 5 o'clock lunch will be served and a social session will follow. The evening services will be held at 7:30 o'clock, when Rev. Gleiss will conduct devotional exercises and Rev. H. Claude Kelly of Bellevue will make an inspirational address.

The first rally was held at the Charleroi church and the second at the First Baptist church at Monongahela. These rallies are proving of great interest to the Baptist people.

CHARLEROI SWAMPED IN COMEDY

Funny Sort of a Game at The Baseball Park Yesterday.

ERRORS MOST PROMINENT

A comedy of errors would be a good title for the exhibition at the ball park yesterday afternoon. The horsehide was kicked around, thrown into the bleachers, and grandstand and incidentally pounded a little with the bigstick. Eight errors were marked up against Charleroi while Clarksburg succeeded in securing three.

The game started out pretty well and continued so until the fifth inning when the baloon ascended from the Clarksburg camp, ten men facing O'Neil before the side was retired, five runs being chalked up on three hits, a walk, a batsman hit and two errors by McGinty. In the sixth Charleroi got one more run which practically sewed up the game had the hoodoo man stayed away. He couldn't resist the temptation, however, and when Clarksburg went to bat in the seventh he walked upon the field and when MacHale's kids got over their fright Fred Drum had seven of his men over the pan, three hits a couple or three errors with a few bases on balls being the cause.

Just to boost their base running Clarksburg scored three in the eighth on a pair of hits, a walk and an error. A batter hit, a walk an error and a long single gave the West Virginians three more in the ninth. Score:

ARE FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MISCHIEF

Dawson And Anderson Must Pay The Costs of Suit, However.

CASE OF VANDERGRIFTS

The familiar but unjust sentence of "not guilty but pay the costs" was imposed upon H. H. Dawson and Riley Anderson, by the jury yesterday at Washington, the men being charged with malicious mischief in removing a tombstone and markers from lot in the Beallsville cemetery. The private prosecutor was Mrs. Julia A. Vandergrift, wife of J. M. Vandergrift of Allenport, for many years owner of the Vandergrift distillery at Allenport.

The prosecution was part of the litigation that has arisen between the widow and sisters of J. M. Vandergrift, all children of J. H. Vandergrift, who died a few weeks ago. The sisters desired after the death of their father to purchase a lot adjoining that in which their mother and brother were buried at Beallsville. After doing this and interring the remains of their father in this half lot, they made arrangements to remove the body of their mother and also the Vandergrift monument to the same location.

It is alleged that H. H. Dawson and Riley Anderson had removed the monument with malicious intent. The defense stated that they were employed by the Vandergrifts to do the work, and cut an inscription on the monument to note the death of Mary J. and J. H. Vandergrift.

An injunction proceeding is still pending in court to restrain the removal of the body of Mary J. Vandergrift, the mother, from the lot claimed to be owned by Julia A. Vandergrift.

DEATH OF MISS CORRELL

Mary Isabel Correll, aged 19 years, died this morning at 12:30 after a lingering illness of valvular heart trouble. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Jerome's church with interment at Calvary cemetery. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Correll of Washington avenue, three brothers, William of the firm of Correll and Crowley, Harry of the Overland Tea company, and Joseph living in Sumerset county and two sisters, Grace, wife of Philip E. Caulfield of Carnegie, and Marguerite at home.

Although the death of Miss Correll was not unexpected, it nevertheless produced a profound shock among her many friends. Miss Correll was a young woman with a lovable disposition and endowed with the rare faculty of making and keeping friends. She was devotedly attached to her family who gave her all the possible care and attention during her long sickness, and her untimely death is a crushing sorrow to them all.

FOREIGNERS BREAK DOORS AND WINDOWS

Are Arrested And Burgess Risbeck Imposes Stiff Fines.

MUST PAY FOR DAMAGES

It cost five foreigners just a toal of $67.25 fines, costs and for damages done, when they had a hearing before Burgess Risbeck last evening on a charge of fighting and destroying property at 1108 Crest avenue. Of this amount $87.25, was fine and costs. Not only did the burgess get after the men in the way of imposing sentence, but Justice Wilson, afterwards handled two of them pretty severely.

The affair occurred shortly after midnight Wednesday morning. There had been a wedding at the home of Mike Zurow at 1108 Crest avenue, and a number of guests were present. Beer flowed freely but Zurow was present as a guardian, and when he thought that there had been enough liveliness, he shut down on the drinks, which caused a fracas and in addition to personal injuries the house was greatly damaged, practically every window being broken and the doors battered in and the weather-boarding destroyed in some places.

Of the five arrested Kisansky was fined $10 and costs, Omate, Halladay and Wele $5 and costs, and Pafko $3 and costs, while the damages amounting to $80 was evenly divided among them. Information was made by Zulow before Justice Wilson, against Kisansky and Omate, and they were each fined $5 and costs last evening, and the former was compelled to pay the doctor's bill for having Zulow's eye attended to.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Sun sets 7:04, rises 4:40; moon rises 2:15 a. m.; planet Mercury visible low in west just after sunset.

Should Not Sleep.

Through the efforts of the Uniontown Merchants' Association that town has landed an industry that gives employment to fifty men. This is the Cosmopolitan Engineering company which manufactures ornamental and structural iron. The concern is located in Pittsburg.

It is just barely possible that this industry might have been landed for Charleroi had the local Merchants' Association known it was seeking a new location and gone after it. The plant is not a big one, but it could probably be secured easier than a larger one, and a number of small concerns are better than one large one, as all the small ones are not likely to be shut down at once. In all probability there are many more small plants in Pittsburg that would like to get out of the city, and if our Merchants' Association is alert some of them might be directed this way. With the best of railroad and river transportation, and an abundance of coal and gas, Charleroi offers superior inducement to Uniontown.

The Town Beautiful.

Under direction of the civic committee of the Friday Conversational Club of Monongahela, two days have been set apart for an annual house-cleaning of the town. On those days every property owner, tenant and citizen of the town will be asked to assist in cleaning up about their premises, and to place their homes and surroundings in the best possible shape. As a further incentive for beautifying the town the club will offer prizes for the best kept alley ways and porch boxes, as well as special prizes to school children for the finest flowers raised from seeds distributed in the schools some time ago.

The spirit of public improvement is most commendable, and when inaugurated and carried out systematically it soon becomes voluntary. As [illegible] Charleroi is remarkably clean and well kept, but a lot of of this order has to be enforced on the part of the health and sanitary officials. What is desired is for the citizens generally to take pride in the appearance of their premises and surroundings, and to appreciate the beautiful as well as the sanitary effects. Where beauty is appreciated, order and well being also follow.

Electric Sparks

As the Marathon is seemingly the most popular amusement in the country at the present time, with the possible exception of baseball, Charleroi to prove that she is in never behind the times is going to have a couple more.

According to Monessen officials the Monongahela High School people wanted them to join in holding a field meet at the Monongahela race track and leave poor Charleroi out in the cold. Monessen refused. And to think that the Monongahela people actually did that, after all we had done for them. Perhaps they knew they would get beaten anyhow, and were a little afraid of Charleroi.

A newspaper of a town along the valley elaborates upon their up-to-dateness from the fact that they have a sidewalk controversy on. What queer things some mortals will do.

Now that the Boyles are serving out their sentences, people can begin to speculate as to whether there is any possibility their ever getting out ahead of their time.

Great Scott! Here we have almost forgotten about Harry Thaw, from all this talk about the other fellows. Wonder what he is doing anyhow?

Wonder what specialty the people of this section could feed Mr. Taft if he should come for a visit?

Despite the fact that some people claim that a fan is an instrument to create a draft, we hold that it is a baseball bug. Occasionally it may create a draft, however.

Pool Opens May 15.

The swimming pool at Turner Hall will be open Saturday, May 15. The pool will be operated this year for members and their families only. In order to let the boys of the town have the benefit of the pool the management has set three afternoons, that is, Monday, Wednesday and Friday apart for them. The rates will be $1.00 per month or 50 cents between the 15th and the last of the month. The janitor, Mr. Andrew Hostnick, will have charge of the pool. Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday evening are set apart for ladies, and Mrs. Andrew Hostnick will be in charge. Thursday evening is reserved for private parties. Boys must find their own trunks. The pool will also be available after 10 a. m. until noon to private parties.

The pool has been repainted, the walls are painted white clear to the bottom. The electric lights have been re-arranged. The pool is filled with water pumped from a well. The rules governing the pool will be strictly enforced. 2324

Didn't Impress Him.

Shortly after his rise to the bench Judge Coleman had occasion to pronounce a life sentence upon a notorious offender. In the course of his remarks the judge spoke with so much feeling and eloquence that many of the listeners were deeply affected. The prisoner, on the other hand, seemed to be quite indifferent, looking at the ceiling and apparently giving no attention whatever to what was being said. After he had been remanded to jail one of the young lawyers had gone into the cell, curious to know how the criminal had felt when his honor was passing sentence upon him.

"What do you mean?" asked the convicted one.

"I mean when the judge was telling you you must go to prison for life."

"You mean when he was talking to me?"

"Yes."

"Oh, I never paid no attention to Dick Coleman. He ain't no public speaker nohow!"—Argonaut.

The Fate of the Fancy Set.

James, aged seven, had been promoted. In recognition of this great event his father purchased for him the following things that James insisted were necessary:

A box of one dozen pencils, assorted leads; one ink and one pencil eraser, one pencil box with a marvelous roll top, three copybooks for home work, two penholders and a patent strap that was a marvel of ingenuity, but somehow or other didn't seem to hold the books very firmly.

The father examined the outfit a few days after and found that it contained—

One much chewed lead pencil furnished by the city, a scribbling pad with a few sheets on it, a tin fountain pen that did not work and never could have worked and a skate strap to hold the things together.

The father asked no questions. He instinctively knew what had become of the fancy implements of education.—New York Press.

Mr. Porter's home is in New Alexandria, Westmoreland county.

Manager Harry Garbart is strengthening his New Eagle team for the coming season, and has signed "Tug" Harris, of Gallatin, who will play in the outfield. Harris is a well known athlete, and is a good player, being especially handy with the stick. Lines are also out for Frank Vittone, of Finleyville, who played with the team last year.

The executive committee of Post 80, Grand Army of the Republic, composed of E. S. France, J. D. Hoon and Capt. J. B. Gibson, is arranging for the observance of Memorial Day. Union Memorial service will be held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, May 30 and on Monday, the 31st, the exercises will be held in the Presbyterian church, the address by Rev. M. M. Allbeck.

Encouragement.

"I have a splitting headache," sighs the beautiful young thing.

"Have you ever tried magnetic healing?" asks the obliging young man.

"No. What is it?"

"You rest your head, thus, on my shoulder, and I pass my arm about your waist in this manner. Now be perfectly calm and see if this does not relieve you."

The position is maintained for five or ten minutes, and then the obliging young man asks:

"Does your head ache any more?"

"Ye-e-es."

"Well, I'm sorry I don't seem able to relieve you."

He is about to remove his arm when she looks up at him childingly and says:

"It seems to me that if you have any confidence in your method you would be willing to keep on trying."—Chicago News.

Why She Shut Down.

"A charming gentleman about four years old used to pass my house every day on his way to kindergarten," said a lady, "and in course of time I made his acquaintance and gave a penny to him each morning when we parted.

"Eventually his mother requested me not to give any more money to him. The next morning I did not present the usual penny. He did not seem to notice the omission. The succeeding day when the penny was not given to him he said nothing. But on the morning of the third day when the penny was not forthcoming he sidled up to me and whispered: 'What's the matter? Ain't your husband working?'"

Uncertainty of Lion Hunting.

A lion is a fearful animal. Do not run away with the idea that he is not dangerous. You may have luck to kill twenty, but No. 21 will likely get you. However careful and good a shot you may be, there is the greatest danger in tackling a lion. I remember Colonel W—, who had lived in Africa for nine years and during that time had never seen a lion, and the first lion he saw he wounded and got badly mauled, saying to me: "Here, man; you have been here only sixteen months and have killed five lions. Chuck it, man, while you are in luck. They are bound to get you if you go on hunting them."—Forest and Stream.

THE OLD FLINTLOCKS.

They Seem to Have Done Some Rather Tolerable Shooting.

"These old shooting irons," said a man from Virginia, who was examining an old flintlock rifle, "always have my profound respect. Our grandfathers and great-grandfathers did their hunting with them and used them in our two victorious wars with England. They were always good weapons and are now, if they are equipped with a good stock and a good lock. They could do fine service. Any man who was any sort of a marksman could do effective work with them in their day. This fact was well illustrated in an incident that happened several years ago near Richmond. The story was printed in some of the leading newspapers in Virginia and was the cause of much interest.

"There was an old farmer residing in one of the peninsular counties who was coming on the cars to Richmond and had with him one of those old fashioned weapons. In the train he got into conversation with a small party of gentlemen, who expressed much interest in his old rifle, and the farmer told of some rather extraordinary feats of marksmanship that he had performed with it.

"Finally he was persuaded to give an exhibition of his skill with the old [illegible] in the presence of a few gentlemen. The old flintlock was fired seven times and only missed the mark once. At first the old man fired it at some small objects—to get his hand steady, so he said. Then the old fellow handed to his son, who had every faith in his father's skill, a large potato and stationed him at fifty yards distance, holding the potato between his thumb and forefinger.

"The rifle cracked, and the potato was split into several pieces. Another shot was made at the bowl of a pipe which the boy was smoking, and the bowl was smashed. Several other shots were made at various objects, but in trying to hit a copper cent that was tossed in the air the marksman made a miss. He was considerably mortified at this and laid the blame on a bystander who sneezed loudly at the critical moment, but made another attempt, which was successful.

"The old man then declined any further trials of his skill and when offered a sum of money to repeat his feat of shooting a potato from his son's hand refused, saying he didn't care to experiment any further unless his weapon was freshly cleaned. The boy was willing, but the old man was obdurate. The young man showed not the least nervousness during the dangerous experiment upon himself."—Washington Post.

A Necessity.

"Twenty dollars for retrimming your hat!" exclaimed Mr. Madison. "But we agreed to spend nothing except for things that were [illegible] needed."

"Well, John, this is. You see, my best friend has just had hers retrimmed, and I have promised to go with her to the concert on Friday."

"Oh, all right. But I don't give you more than fifteen this morning, because I broke my meerschaum and must have it mended."

"Can't you smoke your old briarwood?"

"Certainly, dear. And you can wear your old hat."

"John, he's begin to see the light month after we get things straightened out."

"All right."—New York Herald.

To Multiply by Division.

Everybody knows that learning the tens in the multiplication table is as easy as "pie" and that the fives are not much harder but, slight as is the mental effort required in multiplying any number by five, it may be lessened still more by discarding the multiplier entirely and substituting a divisor instead. This may sound paradoxical, but by experimenting you will find that dividing by two will bring the same result as multiplying by five, provided you add a cipher to the quotient if the dividend be an even number or five if it be odd. For instance, if you multiply 2,734 by five the product is 13,670. What is still easier, divide 2,734 by two, which is done almost instantaneously; then tack on your 0 and you have 13,670.

Separate and Together.

First Seaman—I say, Bill, wot's this card?

Second Seaman—That's the saloon passengers' menu, of course.

"But wot does it mean?"

"Oh, it's a list of all the things they have for dinner—soup and fish and vegetables and meat. That's the difference between the saloon and the forecastle: they get them all separately and call it a menu. In the forecastle we get them altogether and call it Irish stew."—London Answers.

True Tale.

"My daughter gave us an awful scare the other day," said a caller last night. "She went away for a visit in New York. And she sent a telegram from Buffalo, her first stop. My wife was afraid to open it. We had visions of train wrecks, sudden illness and all sorts of things. And what do you think the message said? This:

"'I forgot to tell you—don't eat up all the strawberry jam while I'm gone.'"—Cleveland Leader.

A TINY BIT OF GROUND.

What May Be Done With a Plot Twenty by Fifty Feet.

A space 20 by 50 feet may under intensive culture be made to yield fresh vegetables for a small family through half the year. With 40 by 50 feet or 50 by 100 there can be a garden [illegible] ing riotous plenty.

Have the spading done as early as possible, use thoroughly rotted manure and supplement it with some good commercial fertilizer, either broadcasted and raked in or put in hills or drills.

It is a waste of seed, strength and time to plant a garden in poor soil. The seed will come up, the spindling plants will be harder to work than if they were luxuriant, and the resultant crop will be mostly conspicuous by its absence. So, if it be impossible to do more, make small rich beds, four feet wide and as long as the manure holds out, and sow them crosswise with such things as radishes, lettuce, cress, parsley, beets and onions. Make the rows a foot to eighteen inches apart or sow the radishes broadcast. Lettuce also yields more for broadcast sowing. Pull out the thriftiest as soon as edible and leave the rest to grow. Radish tops make excellent greens, something better flavored than mustard. By sowing thickly you can have [illegible] dishes of [illegible].

Say the garden is 40 by 50 feet, this is something what the planting of it should be: Dwarf early peas, medium early and late peas, beets, early and later; beans in succession, including bush limas; carrots, radishes, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers. Do not adventure upon corn unless it be sweet corn planted [illegible] and use it as a second crop, to come in just before frost. Make an asparagus bed all across one end of the plot, setting two-year-old roots and fertilizing the bed heavily in early summer just after cutting grass.

Peas are so hardy they may be planted before snow is past, provided, of course, the ground is right when they go in. Make it fine and light, cover the seed at least three inches deep, then tramp the earth over them, setting the feet so one track touches the other. A quart of seed will sow a hundred feet of drill the proper thickness. An ounce of beet seed will sow the same row length.—Circle Magazine.

A MINISTER'S STORY.

It Didn't Have the Intended Effect Upon the Congregation.

It is said that a New England minister once told the following story just before the collection was taken up:

"I have heard of a man, prosperous and well to do, who went to church one Sunday and put a cent—just a plain copper cent—in the collection box.

"On the way home he was overtaken by a sudden heavy shower and, having no umbrella, crawled into a hollow log by the roadside to keep himself dry until the downpour was over.

"Soon the log began to swell; and the wetter it got the more it swelled until the sides finally closed in on the prosperous citizen and held him in a grip like a vise.

"The rain ceased, but the unfortunate man was unable to move hand or foot. He shouted for help, but no one heard him. He was about to give up in despair when he suddenly thought of the cent he had dropped into the collection box that day, and it made him feel so mean and small that he crawled right out of the log without any further trouble.

"Now, if you expect to get caught in a shower and be obliged to take refuge in a hollow log on the way home, by all means put a cent in the contribution basket. If you don't anticipate a crisis of that sort—well, you will know what to do when the basket is passed."

The minister expected a shower of silver and bills to follow this story, but unfortunately just as the collection began a black cloud passed overhead, it suddenly began to sprinkle, and the pennies fairly rained into the contribution basket. Only one quarter, a solitary dime and a lone nickel were found among the coppers, and they got in before the shower began.

The congregation, it seems, had all left their umbrellas at home, and they were not taking any chances.—New York Times.

Got the Number.

Police Captain—You say that an automobile containing several persons sped along the street and struck down an old man? New Officer—Yis, sor. Police Captain—And that after chasing this auto for several blocks you finally succeeeded in getting the number? New Officer—Yis, sor. Police Captain—Good! What was the number? New Officer—There wor just foive persons in th' car, sor!—Circle Magazine.

Positive Reasons.

The Minister—Mackintosh, why don't you come to church now? Mackintosh—For three reasons, sir. Firstly, I dinna like yer theology; secondly, I dinna like yer singin', and, thirdly, it was in your kirk I first met my wife.—Dundee Advertiser.

Essentials of Oratory.

"I have my speech nearly completed."

"I suppose you have marshaled your arguments in serried ranks?"

"No; I haven't taken up that part of it. But I have selected my anecdotes."—Washington Star.

Her Answer.

An Atchison girl had a proposal of marriage and asked a week to think it over. She went to all of her married sisters. One, who used to be a belle, had three children, did all her own work and hadn't been to the theater or out riding since she was married. Another, whose husband was a promising young man at the time she was married, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and a fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes the heroine of this little tale went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man. You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't. She said she could be ready in a month.—Atchison Globe.

Faith, Hope and Charity.

A London weekly offered 2 guineas for a definition of faith, hope and charity. The winner is as follows: Faith, blind trust in a first page; hope, what investors are fed upon; charity, what some of them are likely to be brought to.

That is certainly not bad, but this one is perhaps even better: Faith, the gift that saves mankind; hope, the gift that cheers mankind; charity, the gift that makes man kind.

Proved His Theory, but Died.

The acme of realism was reached, though by accident, in a criminal trial a number of years ago at Lebanon, O. Two men had a personal encounter. One of them after vainly trying to draw his pistol from his hip pocket turned to flee. A moment later he fell, shot in the small of the back. One chamber of his pistol was found to have been fired. His assailant was tried for murder. The defense contended that the man had shot himself while trying to draw his pistol, which had become entangled in the lining of the pocket, and that the prisoner's shot had not taken effect. The prosecution contended that such a wound could not have been self inflicted. The defendant's counsel, Clement L. Vallandigham, undertook to demonstrate to the jury just how the dead man's pistol had hung in the pocket and just how possible it was to inflict such a wound. Suddenly there was a loud report, and the lawyer sank to the floor. The ball had entered the back almost in the identical spot where the dead man had been shot. The defendant was acquitted. Mr. Vallandigham died.—Exchange.

The Whole Story.

"Oh, well," was the answer, "I'm resigning and they're resigned."—Liverpool Mercury.

Westminster Abbey's Poets' Corner.

Turning from King Henry's chapel, with its wealth of fancy's "fairy frost work," to the poets' corner in Westminster abbey, we are attracted by a spell mightier than that of carven stones in the presence of those "serene creators of imperial things" who have enriched our literature with gifts beyond all price. This "glorious company of paupers," as they have been termed, says a writer in Great Thoughts, have won a fame in the glow of which that of statesmen and warriors wanes and perishes, "touched to death by diviner eyes." Drawn together, as it were, by the spell of Chaucer, "our first warbler," what Spenser calls "black oblivion's rust" has failed to tarnish their golden record. We move entranced amid the memorials of Drayton, Ben Jonson, Spenser, Shakespeare, Beaumont, Milton, Gray, Addison and many more, including the impassioned peasant singer, Robert Burns, and the great Victorians, Robert Browning and Alfred Tennyson.—London Standard.
